On Learning

We do not learn from experience... we learn from reflecting on experience.

- John Dewey

The function of education is to teach one to think intensively and to think critically. Intelligence plus character - that is the goal of true education.

— Martin Luther King —

On Teaching

Symbols

Symbols convey deep meanings, and form the foundation for discovery and learning. They establish the bridge between the past and the present. They nurture the quest for further and future inquiry.

On Perspective

Education is the great catalyst of personal growth and discovery. It is through education that the child of a peasant can become a blogger, a doctor, or a nurse; that the child of a miner can become a mine superintendent; and a child of a farmer can become the prime minister.
