Lifelong Learning

Through Indigenous Language and Education (ILE), students experience the rich traditions and knowledge of the First Peoples of the NWT - both in the classroom and on the land. Culture camps and on-the-land learning help students grow academically, socially, and emotionally while developing respect for the land and its people.

These opportunities inspire students to become curious, capable, and confident lifelong learners.

Real World Experience

Located in the heart of downtown Yellowknife, Mildred Hall School (MHS) provides students with a welcoming and inclusive learning environment.

"Strength in Diversity" is a school focus. Students are encouraged to build upon their strengths, experience success, and celebrate their unique talents. Eagle Awards celebrate these strengths twice a year.

Enrichment, student support, and differentiated instruction help meet diverse learning needs.

Literacy-focused programming, family events, outdoor education activities, culture camps, city-wide choir performances and community service connect learning to the "real world".

Innovative teaching and diverse learning opportunities bring learning to life, and encourage students to take an active role in their education.

Quality Education

MHS offers a wide range of programs that support individual student needs.

Students explore their world and learn from diverse perspectives.

Integrated supports help recognize and develop positive behaviours.

Ongoing professional development (PD) for educators ensures instruction is current, responsive, and grounded in best practices.
